

What is claimed is:

1. A bulb structure including a glass shell, a pair of conductive wires, and a tungsten filament between the wires in the shell, and the characteristic is that the shell has a top portion being a convex lens for condensing light as a lighting spot.

00000000-112001